

Cyber Security Community Update

Greetings,

Two of the the most important dates in our our calendar fall within a week of each other. A day for for our hard working labour force to relax, and then a day of action to elect an open, honest and accountable government.

When it comes to employing new staff or bidding farewell to departing members, are you following the correct procedures?

#ProtectionInThePack

Yours Securely,
The Wolfpack Team

IT Web Security Summit

Wolfpack Information Risk is proud to be a display sponsor for the 2019 ITWeb Security Summit.

In an increasingly connected, digital world, cyber security threats are constantly evolving and increasing in number and sophistication. Security professionals need to be up to speed with the latest technologies, techniques and skills for predicting and mitigating potentially crippling cyber attacks, the methods and tools in use by today's threat actors, and the latest legal and compliance demands.
